

Introduction

Contractors' Health & Safety

Welcome

Welcome to the Peaks & Plains contractors' safety induction.

Good health and safety practice starts with a commitment to ensuring that everything we do that has a safety risk associated with it, is thought through and managed properly. We need to be sure that everything that can practically be done to reduce the risks has been done, for the sake of our customers, our staff and the general public.

It is our aim that nobody should ever be injured as a result of the work we do.

The purpose of this induction process is to enable you, our valued supply chain partners to show their commitment to good health and safety management, where we can demonstrate that our Health and Safety values align.

Key contacts

Contact your PPHT contract manager for any health and safety concerns you may have. You can also contact the following teams as they have key responsibilities relating to health and safety across the Trust.

Health & Safety Team for most health and safety related queries

- HealthandSafety@peaksplains.org

Fire Safety Team for fire related queries

- staysafe@peaksplains.org

Complaints team to report any Safety related complaints

- Trust@peaksplains.org

Key safety messages

- We will never knowingly ask your staff to carry out work in an unsafe manner.
- You are responsible for the actions of those you employ (including any sub-contractors) and send to work for the Trust.
- You will be required to participate in our appraisal process and provide us with information regarding your management of general health and safety, including relevant risks associated with the work you are contracted to perform for the Trust.

Key safety messages

- Your safety (and that of our customers) comes before the job; if your staff think a task is unsafe, tell them to STOP IMMEDIATELY and speak to your Trust contacts.
- We operate a safety culture where we're always open to new ideas or ways of working that reduce Health and Safety risks; don't keep good ideas to yourself!
- You will be required to adhere to the document entitled "site rules for contractors" (found elsewhere on the site as a downloadable PDF) at all times. Non-compliance with our site rules may result in your teams being instructed to stop works or removed from our site. Repeated breaches may lead to the termination of your contract and removal from our approved list of contractors for any future work.

Next steps

- Please download and read a copy of the document entitled “site rules for contractors” (found elsewhere on this site in PDF format)
- Once you are happy to work within the guidelines contained in the document, please click on the link elsewhere on this page of our website to sign the acknowledgement form on behalf of your company.
- Failure to sign the form may lead to termination of your contract and removal from our approved list of contractors.

Thank you for your time; it is appreciated.

Stay safe and well.
